The Mouse and the Lion.

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Easement.

"My dear," said Grace Seward as she crossed the wide hotel veranda, "who do you think has come?"
Marion Page looked up brightly from the book she was reading. "The king of Patagonia," she suggested.
"Nonsense, Marion! Don't be silly! This is really somebody out of the ordinary—a real social lion! I give you three guesses. Take the first."
"But I'm not good at guessing," protested Marion. "You'll have to tell me."
"Well, then, hold your breath! It's Burton Sturgis!"
"Burton Sturgis!" repeated Marion slowly.
"Isn't that a sensation?" cried Miss Seward, sinking into a chair at Marion's side with a sigh of baffled surprise. "Fancy such a great explorer, writer and statesman as he is choosing to stop at Windmere for a day! I've always been taught to suppose that such people avoided hotels in the height of the season, haven't you? But it seems he lived some place near here when he was a boy, and he wants to stop and see it on his way through. I suppose famous people always want to visit the haunts of their early life, don't they? And Mrs. Barrington-Sells happens to know him, so she's going to give a tea for him in one of the hotel cottages this afternoon."

"A tea?"
"Yes, a tea. You might know she'd never let a lion escape. It's in the Farquhar cottage, I believe, and you are to serve fruit punch."
"I?" echoed Marion.
"Yes, you. Mrs. Sells told me to tell you. She was coming to ask you herself, only there isn't time. It's nearly half past 10 now, and you haven't the faintest idea how much there is to be done before this afternoon. I should be scurrying about this minute instead of sitting here talking. There are oceans of people to be invited—all Mrs. Sells' friends—and the cottage to be put in order, and the decorations—we've simply robbed the flower beds. And Mrs. Sells wants to know if you won't take the trap this morning and get her some ferns and trailing vines. There are a lot up the road by Beadlers'. You know the way. I'd come with you, but I have to fill the vases and half a dozen other things."

"BUT THEY'RE SO ELUSIVE," LAUGHED MARION.

She skipped down the veranda steps and then paused. "What are you going to wear?" she asked.

"Mersey," laughed Marion. "I haven't had time to decide."
"Well, then, I hope you'll choose your gray silk mull. It's perfectly fascinating. You look like a dear little mouse in it. I'm going to grace the occasion in pale blue. That's not a pun." And Miss Seward rushed across the lawn with the same impetuosity with which she had arrived.

A few moments later Marion drove briskly along the road, a scissor and garden knife on the seat beside her.

"To think," she mused, "that he should come today!"

For two years past Burton Sturgis had stood to her for an ideal, a hero to whom she had meted out a generous share of girlish hero worship. His books occupied a favorite corner of her bookshelf, and a picture of him, cut from a current magazine, was tucked away in a drawer of her desk. She had known that it was possible that she should some day meet him. Still she had not thought that it would be as soon as this. Indeed, she might have known him before had she made the effort to do so, but Grace Seward's description of her as a mouse suited her exactly.

"I'm afraid it doesn't take a gray gown to make me one either," she murmured as she stood cutting the vines, the sunlight glinting on her soft hair.

"I'm not a bit good at gushing, like the other girls," she repeated to herself that afternoon as she sat in a fern embowered corner of the tiny reception room behind a huge cut glass bowl filled with pineapple lemonade and its attendant sherbet cups.

In the drawing room, was a swirl of pink and white and blue, a mass of fluffy gowns and pretty wearers, and in the center of them the portly figure and triumphant face of Mrs. Barrington-Sells. Beside her, immaculate in white flannels, stood Burton Sturgis, a tall, thin man with a commanding profile and dark hair lightly touched with gray.

"He's just as I imagined he would be," murmured Marion, "even to the little bored look that settles around his eyes and the quick way he has of throwing back his head."

Every now and then a group of girls would drift up to her table with little exclamations and thrills of laughter. "Oh, thank you, Miss Page! How cool and delicious! Oh, girls, isn't Burton Sturgis fascinating, and aren't his books too lovely for anything? Let's go back and talk to him again." And the group would break away from Marion and return to the ring that surrounded the great man. From time to time Marion caught snatches of their feminine chatter. "Your charming books, Mr. Sturgis! Adorable! Quaint! Delicious!"

Presently Mrs. Sells broke away from her circle and waddled up to Marion with Burton Sturgis in tow.

"My dear," she wheezed, "let me present Mr. Sturgis. Mr. Sturgis, Miss Page. See that he has enough, Marion," and, playfully waving her pudgy hand at them, she went back to her other guests.

"It is a thirsty day," said Burton Sturgis, taking the sherbet cup that Marion held out to him. "Do you think you could manage to put in another cherry, Miss Page? I'm awfully fond of cherries."

"But they're so elusive," laughed Marion. "They always seem to slip out of the ladle—I just think I've caught one, and then it gets away."

"It's like the small boy and the minnow," agreed Burton Sturgis, his bored look giving place to a smile. "There! You've missed it again!" as a refractory cherry with a little splash sank to the bottom of the bowl.

"I doubt if you could do as well!" cried Marion.

"What do you bet?" he said boyishly. "Two wafers and half a macaroon."
"Done!" He seized the ladle and was in the midst of an excited dipping when Mrs. Sells came toward him like a ship under full sail.

"They're calling for you, Mr. Sturgis," she said, "and this room is too small to hold them all. We shall be mobbed if we don't hurry."

He put down the ladle with a regretful look. "I suppose I'll have to, then," he said and followed her with lagging steps.

Marion leaned her chin on her hand and looked after him. Her moment of moments was over. She had met her idol face to face, and not one word had she spoken of all that his personality and work had meant to her in the past two years. A flush passed across her face.

"I might at least have told him that I had read his books," she said to herself, "but it's too late now. I've had my chance and lost it. What a little stupid he must think me if he thinks of me at all!"

Then the line of chattering guests began to thin. One by one they were departing. Mrs. Barrington-Sells' round face was lit with contentment. It had been a most successful afternoon.

"Even she had something to say to him," thought Marion disconsolately. There was a quick step at her side. She looked up. It was Burton Sturgis.

"Well, that's over," he cried, with a shrug of delight. "And, heavens, but I'm glad to be back in this corner with you! Do you know, Miss Page, you're the only girl this afternoon who hasn't said 'Quaint, lovely, charming and delicious!' I'd like another cherry, please. And will you do me a favor?"

"Delighted," cried Marion gayly. "I've decided to stay over another day, and there's a place near here I'd like to show you if you'd care to see it. Will you come driving with me to-morrow?"

For an instant his eyes held hers. Understanding, humor, camaraderie and a something deeper than all these passed between them.

"I should be glad to," said Marion.

High Priced Elections.
A century ago elections in England were costly affairs. In one case half a million pounds was spent on one election alone. This was the great contest for Yorkshire, in which the candidates were Viscount Milton, the Hon. Henry Lascelles and Mr. Wilberforce.

Wilberforce won at a cost of £58,000, "with every resource of the most rigid economy and great voluntary assistance in labor."

Mrs. Fanny Kemble tells us of another Yorkshire contest, where the money seems to have been spent just as freely. Mrs. Wentworth Beaumont is the heroine. "She, then a very old lady, drove in her traveling carriage to Downing street and, demanding to see the prime minister, with whom she was well acquainted, accosted him thus: 'Well, my lord, are you quite determined to make your man stand for our seat?' 'Yes, Mrs. Beaumont, I think quite determined.' 'Very well,' replied the lady, 'I am on my way down to Yorkshire with £80,000 in the carriage for my man. Try and do better than that!'"—London Chronicle.

STORIES OF DR. HOLMES.

A Young Woman Who Didn't Like His Literary Taste.

The story is recalled of a young Virginia country girl dining in Boston some years ago, in the days when Dr. Holmes went to dinners. Seated next to her was a homely little old gentleman whose name she did not catch. He began to talk with her and asked her how she passed her time in the country.

"Oh, we read, my father and I," she said.

"And what do you read?" asked the little man.

"Well, the 'Autocrat of the Breakfast Table' for one thing," she answered.

"I should think you would not care to read that more than once," remarked the little old man, with a sign of disappointment in his tones.

"My father and I may not be judges of literature," said Miss Virginia airily and with a faint accent of scorn, "but when we get to the end of the 'Autocrat' we generally turn back to the beginning and read it over again."

The little old man smiled at this and was disposed to be friendly, but Miss Virginia was so displeased with his tone concerning the "Autocrat" that she met him with chilly indifference.

As soon as the guests went into the drawing room her hostess whispered reproachfully to her:

"You didn't seem to find Dr. Holmes as interesting as I hoped."

"Dr. Holmes!" shrieked Miss Virginia. There was a tableau and an explanation.

Another story of Holmes' wit is told. One day old Dr. Peabody was to meet him at a certain place. The venerable professor rode in a carriage. When he got there he was met by Holmes, who had walked. Near by was a statue of Eurydice.

"Ah, you ride, I see?"
"Capital, capital!" cried Peabody. That night he went back home and said to his wife:

"Holmes got off a good joke today. His wife asked him what it was. 'Why, I was to meet him down at the statue of Eurydice, and when I arrived he said quite happily, 'Oh, you came in a carriage!'"

And then the genial professor wondered why his wife didn't laugh.

Themistocles. The hero of Salamis, was sent into banishment by the practice of ostracism. This was a purely Athenian device to prevent any man becoming too great. When any man acquired such prominence as to be unsafe to the state, a number of citizens demanded a vote, which was taken by writing on shells the name of the too prominent citizen. If a majority voted against him, he was sent into exile not because he had done anything, but for fear he might do something.

He stayed away from five to ten years, then returned and resumed his standing as a citizen without loss of property or reputation. Themistocles was ostracized and went into exile, where he was soon accused of treasonable correspondence with the Persians. He was about to be arrested, but fled to Persia. He gained great influence at the Persian court and projected an invasion of Greece, but died, it is supposed by poison, before his plans could be realized.

Do You Open Your Mouth?

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people nowadays insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle wraps up in his medicines a made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuritis, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Doctor R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

Our Unchanged Ideal.

America is loyal to her patriots and apparently not fickle in her ideals, for 1907 finds us still paying tribute as fervently as ever to George Washington, whom the little children are taught to revere and their elders continue to eulogize. Washington was not an extremist, radical only in so far as the time necessitated, consistent, moderate and well balanced in all things. These traits will ever endure and survive—outliving the temporary public endorsement of more flashy endowments that make men popular for a time. We all aim to keep ahead of the times and as a result emulate fads and go into ecstasies over fleeting idols and ideals, but this is all superficial and our underlying sentiment is for the conservative. This American trait is the secret of our success as a nation. We are not fickle, have the right ideals and the school boy who is taught to be the American citizen of the future is taught the ways of great men such as was our first president. All presidents are for their term of office exalted and much talked of and famous in a degree that the endurance of their fame is the real test of their greatness.

In France there has been a change in national ideals and in a recent discussion along these lines, it developed that the warrior had ceased to be accounted of the greatest importance to that nation and that Napoleon has been superseded in the national favor by statesmen, authors, inventors and others who have brought renown to their country and gained prestige for her abroad. France makes more fuss over her citizens than we do over ours, due perhaps to the bloody revolution which was the price paid for her emerging at last into a republic. There everything was thought to be due to the valor of the warrior but now the organization and management of the administrative machinery and the creator of the arts of civilization have come to have weight and are regarded as more important than the officers of war which are beneficial to a nation only in conjunction with other attributes. Washington, could he see his country to-day, would marvel at its progress. The little contention with Japan would cause him to realize how quickly the world grows and how quickly evolution works itself out in political structures where people are patriotic. He would probably not regard the situation as serious, for to him our country was capable of all things in its infancy. What would he not presage for it now?

Demonstration of Real Democracy.

Clean-up day in San Francisco will be a red letter event in the city's transition period and there is something about it that appeals to us all as it means a combined interest in the welfare of the municipality and the coming together of all people in one accord. This spirit is exemplified often in small communities, but it will be a grand spectacle to see it demonstrated in a great cosmopolitan city where usually each one pursues the even tenor of his way leaving all things unperturbed to the administration or occasionally to some body like the promotion committee or citizen's alliance. Now we are to have a demonstration of real democracy where the people will act for themselves and all because they will feel better when each and every one has had a hand in the effort to better present conditions in their city.

Cleanliness is said to be next to godliness, so there should be no opposition even by the clergy, for the conditions that have existed since the disaster of last April have caused much suffering to man and beast, and there has been profanity and cruelty. Unchristian and inhuman acts every day are a greater offense surely than the taking of one Sabbath. Municipal house cleaning is a good thing for any community, but San Francisco needs it badly.

ASSEMBLYMAN WESKE of this district voted against the Woman Suffrage bill which has carried in the lower house of our Legislature by a vote of 54 to 16. We opine that the club women of Sonoma county will now be up in arms against the ungallant local statesman for opposing a measure that has received the endorsement of all fair-minded men, and there will be something doing if he has the temerity to again come before the people for political preferment. It Weske's idea was to commit political hari-kari he has gone about it in the right way.

MAYOR SCHMITZ of San Francisco is now no doubt yearning for "time in his backward flight" to make him a fiddler again. With the Oliver grand jury, prosecutor Henry and other reputable citizens of the metropolis trying to land him in the penitentiary and his erstwhile anti-Japanese friends and supporters ready to crucify him for howling down before the big stick in Washington on the Jap question, is it any wonder that he would have time turn back in its flight and make him once more any old thing except the Mayor of a cosmopolitan city.

Grippe or Influenza, whichever you like to call it, is one of the most weakening diseases known.

Scott's Emulsion, which is Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites in easily digested form, is the greatest strength-builder known to medical science.

It is so easily digested that it sinks into the system, making new blood and new fat, and strengthening nerves and muscles.

CLEANINGS FROM THE SUPERIOR COURT

Calendar Day Draws to the County Seat Lawyers From all Parts of County.

Calendar day in the Superior Court Monday attracted to the county seat the usual legal talent from the various towns and cities of Sonoma county. Following were the matters disposed of by Superior Judges Seawell and Denny: Letters were granted to Michael J. Mullaly in estate of Mary Mullaly, bond of $175; to Christine Baines in estate of Charles Larsen.

Will of Elizabeth Reynolds was admitted and letters testamentary issued to Edwin Reynolds, without bonds.

First annual account of guardian of Ben F. Drake et al., minors, was settled and allowed.

Final account in estate of Newell Daniels was settled and distribution ordered.

Petition to set aside estate of D. M. Eshbach to widow was granted.

An order confirming sale of real estate belonging to Julius C. Stammer's estate was vacated and set aside. The sale had been made to the Woodmen Building Association of Geyserville.

Matters in estates of Mary B. Collins, Robert F. Cleveland et al., minors, Jens Thomas and William B. Seabury were continued to February 25th.

Default was entered in the suit of Cora E. Baum vs. John M. Baum. Referred to court commissioner.

The following suits were continued to February 25. Sara Jane Case vs. Annie Wheeler et al., George Wheeler vs. Richard Johnson et al., Sonoma Stone and Construction Co. vs. F. J. Bertolani, and Lillian M. Burke vs. Charles G. Burke.

Judge Emmet Seawell's calendar contained these matters on Monday:

The divorce suit of Thomas B. Moore vs. Eudora E. Moore was continued to February 25.

The suit of Elizabeth F. Jack, as administratrix of the estate of Owen Burns, deceased, was set for March 6.

Sentence on Dick Bill was continued to Tuesday morning.

Motion to vacate judgment in case of J. H. Freese vs. U. G. Peterson continued to March 4.

Stay of execution granted until Saturday, Feb. 23, in action of S. S. Kelly vs. John Doe Edison.

Petition for decree vesting homestead in estate of Catherine Hanratty to surviving spouse was granted.

The action of Justus H. Cole vs. Priscilla Cole was placed on calendar to be set for trial.

Ernest Layman was arraigned on burglary charge and his plea set for March 11.

Hunting for Trouble

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, tuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Eucly's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed at L. S. Simmons on drug store. 25c.

The Daily Call and Index-Tribune $9 per year for both papers.

WANTED—10 men in each state to travel, distribute samples of our goods and tack signs. Salary $85 per month; $3 per day for expenses. SAUNDERS Co., Department P, No. 46 Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Ills.

A Habit to Be Encouraged.

The mother who has acquired the habit of keeping on hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy saves herself a great amount of uneasiness and anxiety. Coughs, colds and croup, to which children are susceptible are quickly cured by its use. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and if given as soon as the first symptoms of croup appear it will prevent the attack. This remedy contains nothing injurious and mothers give it to little ones with a feeling of perfect security. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Is this Your Wife?

You say: "No!" But she should remind you of a duty you owe your wife. If she has one of the old-fashioned, troublesome, cumbersome, cast-iron Cook Stoves—the kind that gets red hot all over—you can end all her kitchen troubles by buying her a "Quick Meal" Range. The "Quick Meal" Steel Range is so thickly lined with Asbestos that all the heat is kept inside the Range to bake and cook the meals, instead of cooking the Cook. In that way it saves fuel and it also saves and sweetens temper. "Quick Meal" Ranges are daily growing in popularity. They look well, they cook well, they bake well, they last well. That is why there are so many in use—every one recommends another.

See Haven About It...

We also have twenty different styles in Quick Meal Blue-Flame, Evaporating and Gasoline Stoves, ranging in price from two to thirty dollars.

Constable's Sale.

In the Justice's Court of the Township of Sonoma, County of Sonoma, State of California.

Peter J. Arrighi, plaintiff, vs. Barbara A. Garniss, defendant.

UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF A judgment and writ of execution issued out of the Justice's Court of Sonoma Township, County of Sonoma, State of California, on the first day of February A. D. 1907, in the above entitled action, whereby Peter J. Arrighi, the above named plaintiff obtained a judgment against Barbara A. Garniss on the 20th day of July, A. D. 1906, rendered before Joseph B. Smith, Justice of the Peace of Sonoma Township, County of Sonoma, State of California, against Barbara A. Garniss and in favor of P. Arrighi for the sum of $142; $5 costs and $1 accrued costs, amounting to the sum of $148, I am commanded to sell all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate and lying and being in the Township of Sonoma, County of Sonoma, State of California, and bounded and described as follows, to wit: Being out lots numbers 542 and 549 in the former pueblo of Sonoma, in the County of Sonoma, State of California, as the same are known, numbered and designated on the official map or plat thereof, now of record in said County of Sonoma. Public notice is hereby given that on (the second), the 2nd day of March, A. D. 1907, at 11 o'clock a. m. of that day, in front of the Justice's Court, in the Township of Sonoma, State of California, I will in obedience to said writ of execution and to satisfy said judgment obtained in the above entitled action in favor of plaintiff and against said defendant, sell the above described property or so much thereof as may be necessary to raise sufficient money to satisfy said judgment, with interest and costs, etc., to the highest bidder for lawful money of the United States.

JOSEPH RYAN, Constable.
Dated Sonoma Township, February 4, 1907.
JAMES C. SOUS, J. A. SPINELLI, Attorneys for plaintiff.

Summer Boarders

The Summer Season Will Soon Be Here

Are you going to receive Summer Visitors this year? It will be a banner year. If you decide to kindly fill up the blank below and we will be pleased to insert the matter in our "VACATION 1907."

If you cannot board visitors, but have a nice camping location, send in full particulars with terms, etc.

All dates must be in by March 1st.

As signatures are not easily read, we shall thank you if you will be very careful in writing the same.

SANGUINARY CONTEST ENDS IN A DRAW

The Six-Round Go Between Cornelius and Woods
Best Ever Pulled Off in Sonoma.

The six-round boxing contest in O'Rourke's pavilion last Saturday night between Emile Cornelius of this place and F. Woods (Nat Bacagalupi) of San Francisco resulted in a draw.

The battle, which was a most sanguinary one, was fought gamely
by both men and at times the arena presented the appearance of a pig sty in hog-sticking time.

There was a great disparity in the size and weight of the men, and when they sprang to the center of the ring it reminded one of little David giving battle to Goliath
in those days when the slung-shot was the favorite weapon of offense and defense and the manly art of self-defense was quite unknown.
Cornelius never looked so big in his life as when he confronted Woods, who weighed less than 130 pounds and sported legs that looked like pipe stems. But the little chap was a fighter for all that and a scientific one, too.

In the first round Cornelius led for the face with a right hand swing that would have knocked Woods' coconut off had it landed.
Woods, however, very cleverly ducked the vicious knock-out swing
and landed heavily on Cornelius' face.
The latter retaliated with a strong facer and the men came to a clinch. They were speedily separated by the referee, Andy Steiger of San Francisco, and then fought viciously all round the ring
until the gong sounded.

The second round was a bloody
one. Woods landed heavily on Cornelius' left eye cutting a deep gash over that optic from which the blood flowed freely. From this on Woods kept jabbing the damaged eye with his left and kept it bleeding. Cornelius fought back gamely and showed that he was capable of receiving punishment. He landed repeatedly on Woods but owing to his adversary's cleverness and knowledge of the game he could not get in his favorite knock-out punch. Cornelius missed many swings and while making a hole in the air with his right the nimble-footed Woods
would shoot out his left and land on that damaged optic. This he did time and again.

The third, fourth, fifth and sixth rounds were almost a repetition of the second. It was fight and fight and certainly those present got their money's worth.

This last scrap held under the auspices of the Sonoma Athletic club demonstrated two things:
First—That young Cornelius does not possess a yellow streak and that he is a game fighter under adverse circumstances. Second—That Woods (Nat Bacagalupi) is one of the prettiest and cleverest boxers that ever appeared before the sports of Sonoma.

Teachers' Institute to be

County Sues For Right of Way.

Suit has been brought in the Superior Court by Sonoma county
through District Attorney Lea against Mary and Maggie Biggins
and the Yulupa Land and Water Company, of which L. L. Lewis is president. The suit is brought to condemn a right-of-way for a public road over the lands of the defendants. The proposed road in question is in the Agua Caliente road district. The Supervisors appointed viewers to survey and lay out the road but the owners were not satisfied with the amount of damages awarded them, hence the suit by the county to force a right-of-way for the thoroughfare.

BOLD ROBBERY IN BUSINESS SECTION

O. K. Saloon Entered From Rear and Till Tapped
by Thief.

The rear entrance to Wm. H.
Kerner's O. K. saloon located in the business center of town was forced open by a bold thief on Wednesday evening last between 6:30 and 7 o'clock while Billy Meyers, who has charge of the saloon during Mr. Kerner's visit in the East, was absent at supper.
The thief tapped the till and secured between $8 and $10 in small change. He appeared to be contented with this and made his escape without detection.

The robbery was a bold one and was evidently committed by some one acquainted with the lay of the ground.

Literary Society.

The Sonoma Literary Society
met at the Stofen home on Monday last for an evening with Franz and Mendelssohn. The program was as follows:
Life and Works of Robert Franz (Reading)
Mr. Platt.
Vocal Solo—Franz..... Miss Stofen
Life and Works of Felix Mendelssohn
(Baritone), paper..... Miss Murphy
Instrumental Solo—Mendelssohn..... Miss Davis
Quotations about music..... Society
Instrumental Solo—Mendelssohn..... Miss Poppe
The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Murphy on February 25th. It will be "An Evening with the Chinese" and each member is requested to quote
a Chinese proverb. The members and their friends are cordially invited.

Kearney Ranch Again Changes Hand.

J. K. Bigelow has purchased from Richard Flaherty, through the real estate agency of Peters & Baine, the old Kearney ranch of 246 acres near El Verano. The purchaser is the lessee of the Maxwell place, where he has been engaged in the poultry business for several years.

Sonoma's New Enterprise.

It is not generally known but it is nevertheless a fact that Sonoma has a new industry in its midst. We refer to the cigar business of Mr. Joseph Gassner. He has been pursuing his occupation
here in a very quiet and unostentatious manner ever since the fire in San Francisco. He is manufacturing a very superior article of cigars, among his favorites being the Pride of Sonoma. This is an enterprise that should be encouraged by our people.

From now on, for the convenience of their many customers,
John Batto & Sons will pay eggs
in any quantity and will pay spot cash for same.

A PIONEER MOTHER PASSES TO REWARD

Mrs. Mary A. Douglas, Who Came Here in Early Days, Is Dead.

Mrs. Mary A. Douglas, one of the few surviving pioneer mothers of the Sonoma Valley, died at her little home in the eastern suburbs
of town last Sunday.

The deceased located in this valley with her husband many years ago, and raised a large family of children. She was the mother of Mrs. Arnold Dulin, Mrs. Warren E. Hunt, Miss Louise Douglas, Robert W. Douglass, Jas. B. Douglas, John L. Douglas and Chas.
Douglas.

Mrs. Douglas was a native of England and lacked but five months of being 80 years of age
when she passed away.

The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, the remains being tenderly laid to rest in Mountain cemetery by her many surviving relatives and neighbors.

Gold Watch Won by Miss Kehoe.

The little gold watch given at Eastland's Model Pharmacy found its new owner last Saturday. The three tied guessers drew for it and Miss Eleanor Kehoe of Schellville won it. She naturally prizes it very highly for it is a beautiful little time keeper.

Free Flower Garden Seed.

Hon. Duncan E. McKinlay, Congressman from this district, has forwarded to this office from Washington, D. C., a quantity of flower garden seeds for free distribution. Parties desiring a package of these seeds can have same by applying at this office. Each package contains five varieties of flowers, as follows: Ageratum, eschscholzia, nasturtium, petunia,
poppy.

New County Court House.

The Board of Supervisors on Tuesday last adopted the plans for Sonoma county's new Court House and instructed County Clerk Wright to invite bids for the construction of the same. The plans and specifications have been drawn up by Architect J. W. Dolliver.

Resolutions of Respect

RESOLVED, That by the death of Joel M. Zane on January 20th, 1907, this Grange has lost a faithful and efficient officer and brother and his family a good husband and father and the community a good and faithful citizen. All will miss his kindly face and greeting
for, so far as known, he had no enemies and all will and regret a loss in his departure to an eternal existence.

RESOLVED, That this Grange extend the sympathy of its members to the surviving widow of our late brother, or sister
in the Grange, and to his family, and that these resolutions be spread upon this Grange and that a copy thereof be furnished for publication and that a copy thereof,
signed by the master and attested by the secretary, with the seal of the Grange attached, be transmitted to the widow of our late brother.

Sorrowful dear brother as we lay you
In your last quiet resting place,
Never more to see you.

THEODORE WAGNER,
C. H. W. BRUNING,
IDA JOHNSON,
Committee.
N. S. TROWBRIDGE, Master.
JESSIE T. HASKELL, Sec.

Rising from the Grave

A prominent manufacturer, Wm.
A. Fertilizer of Lucena, N. C., relates a most remarkable experience.
He says: "After taking less than two bottles of Electric Bitters I feel like one rising from the grave.
My trouble is Bright's disease in the diabetes stage. I fully believe Electric Bitters will cure me permanently, for it has already stopped the liver and bladder complications which have troubled me for years." Guaranteed by L. S.
Simmons, druggist. Price only 50c.

Wanted—Lady to advertise our goods locally. Several weeks home work. Salary $12 per week, $1.00 a day for expenses. Saunders Co.,
Department W, 46-48 Jackson
Boulevard, Chicago, Ill.

NORTHWESTERN PACIFIC.

New Corporation Names
Its Officers.

The directors of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, the successors of the California Northwestern Railway, which recently passed out of the control of Mr. A. W.
Foster, have announced the following as the officers of the new corporation:

A. H. Payson, president.
James Alger, general manager,
with headquarters in the James Flood building, San Francisco.
B. F. Porter, assistant general manager in charge of operated lines north of Shively tunnel,
with headquarters at Eureka.

R. X. Ryan, general passenger and freight agent, with offices in San Francisco.

H. W. Ellicott, general purchasing agent to succeed H. C. Whiting, deceased. Mr. Ellicott was until recently assistant purchasing agent of the Southern Pacific.

W. C. Edes, chief engineer, with headquarters in San Francisco.

F. K. Zook, engineer in charge of maintenance of way, with such other duties in connection with new construction as may hereafter be assigned to him.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NOTES.

Mrs. L. H. Green visited in San Francisco last Monday.

The Sonoma Valley Woman's Club holds its annual election next month.

Miss Helen Greeley of Oakland is visiting the Simmons home on Broadway.

Mrs. Pauline McMullen has been confined to her home the past few days with tonsillitis.

Mrs. Bryant of San Mateo is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dr.
Frances Leix of this city.

Mrs. Robt. A. Poppe and Miss Emily Poppe attended the Cloverdale citrus fair Friday (Sonoma Day).

Ernest Clewe, who has been absent in Germany since last June, is expected home some time in April.

Mrs. F. Clewe, who has been quite ill in San Francisco for several weeks, is said to be improving.

Lent has been observed in St.
Francis' church and the Congregational church the past week
with fasting and prayers.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCullough of Pittsburgh, Penn., were guests at the Grange home several days this week. Mr. McCullough is a nephew of Mrs. R. J. Keogh and is a man prominent in the affairs of the "smoky city."

Mrs. E. K. Stevenot was down from Calaveras county the forepart of the week visiting friends in Sonoma. Mrs. Stevenot contemplates buying a home either in Sonoma or Berkeley, and her many friends here trust that her choice will center on this place,
where she formerly resided.

Mrs. Robert Potter Hill, ex-president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, was the guest of honors of the Philomath Club of Santa Rosa Monday afternoon.
The club met in the beautiful drawing rooms of Dr. and Mrs. J.
W. Jesse. Mrs. Hill delivered an able and entertaining address on the subject of "Federation" and was congratulated on all sides for the able manner in which she handled her subject. Mrs. Hill is now at her home in Eldridge enjoying a good rest after her arduous duties of a year as president of the State Federation.

A Chestnut.

The rain which set in last Saturday has continued to fall in gentle showers throughout the week,
if we except Monday when Jupiter Pluvius shut down his flood gates for a brief period. So far this has been the wettest season known in this valley for years, the precipitation to date being over 30 inches.
The ground is thoroughly saturated to bed rock and such a thing
as plowing in the fields or spading
a garden is out of the question.
The rain has also retarded work
in the orchards and vineyards, the precipitation, however, has been beneficial to hay and grain and pasturage, which has taken on a rapid growth the past few weeks.

Appropriation For Cal- ifornia Home.

Senator Price has secured the passage of a bill authorizing the appropriation of considerable money for the improvement of the home at Glen Ellen. The Senate has passed the bill providing three thousand dollars for the Manor house, and the Senate finance committee has passed $75,000 for the main building, $20,000 for male and female dormitories, and $5000
for a dairy barn. The buildings were badly damaged in the earthquake, and the sum granted for the main building will be used for repairing it.

Petition for Guardianship.

Daniel Fridger of Glen Ellen has petitioned for letters of guardianship of the estate of Mary Fridger, widow of the late Jacob Fridger, which consists of a half interest in a fine farm in the Summit Joint district several miles northeast of Glen Ellen.
Robt. A. Poppe of this place is the attorney for petitioner.

The Booklets.

Subscribers to the booklets descriptive of the Sonoma Valley are requested to notify this office as to how many copies they desire for distribution abroad. Several thousand copies will shortly be sent to the Southern Pacific Company, the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company and the State Board of Trade for distribution in the East. For the most part the booklets will be distributed by the Southern Pacific Company.

Fair and Race Meet.

Petaluma is to have a fair and race meet next August and $30,000 will be awarded in stakes and premiums. The entries for the races, which will be in the harness
class, closes March 4th.

A Valuable Lesson

"Six years ago I learned a valuable lesson," writes John Pleasant of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's New Life Pills, and the longer I take them the better I find them." They please everybody. Guaranteed at L. S.
Simmons druggist, 50c.

Christian Endeavor So- cieties.

Eight hundred young people,
members of the Christian Endeavor Societies in the Sonoma-Napa district, held a convention in Santa Rosa Friday night of last week. Among the speakers were Miss Schumachers of San Francisco and Miss Margaret Smith of Berkeley. Mrs. M. H. Reeves,
president of the District, arranged the program. During the meeting
there were orchestral numbers,
solo and quartet singing, addresses and other features. Eight ministers took part. Attorney Rolfs Thompson made the address of welcome.

Citrus Fair.

Notwithstanding the stormy weather a fair representation of Sonoma Valley people attended the Citrus Fair in Cloverdale yesterday. Had the day been a clear one ten times the number of people would have attended from Sonoma alone.

Washington's Birthday.

Although yesterday was Washington's birthday there was not an American flag unfurled in the town. The day was observed, however, by the closing of the Sonoma Valley Bank and the public schools.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs, and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All drug stores sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 55 Warren St., N. Y.
The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads its effect over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation.
With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

TRAVERS &amp; CO.

Copyright, 1906, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

The mercantile house of Travers & Co., New York, had a branch in Paris for twenty years, when Travers himself, after looking over old accounts, noticed something wrong.

The next steamer sailing for Havre carried with her Thomas Agnew, the firm's bookkeeper. He was provided with all proper credentials, and his instructions were to give the Paris books a thorough overhauling. He was to interview the head of the French firm first. This he did soon after reaching Paris.

"I hardly expected you, but I am glad that you are here," was his greeting. "It is true that the business has fallen off, and it has been a source of anxiety to me. We seem to be doing as much as ever, but the sales show less and less. I cannot suspect any of the employees. The bookkeeper is the only one who could juggle the figures, and he is probably itself. He has been with us for ten years past and is as steady as a church. I might as well suspect myself."

"Nevertheless, if there is anything wrong it must be in his department," suggested Agnew.

There were two or three interviews, and then it was suggested that Dubois, which was the name of the bookkeeper, be given leave of absence for a couple of weeks. He refused to take it. Then Agnew called for instructions and was told to go ahead. He was taken to the office and introduced to his errand stated. To his agreeable surprise Dubois gave him a cordial welcome and offered every assistance in his power. He would be only too glad to have his books looked over and verified. His frankness and eagerness were a setback to Agnew, but a ray was appointed for the commencement of the work. No man could have set out to render himself more agreeable than the French bookkeeper did. He first invited Agnew to his home to dinner. It was a modest little cottage, plainly furnished and evidently economically managed. There were a wife and two children, and the family appeared to be happy and contented.

Agnew had made up his mind that Dubois was certainly living on his income and was a man of steady habits when his wife happened to mention during the momentary absence of the husband that she would be entirely happy if Claude did not have to remain at the office so late three or four nights in the week. As a matter of fact, the office always closed at 5:30 p. m., and Agnew was made uneasy by the remarks.

Dubois made arrangements to show the American certain sights the next evening, and they were together for several hours. At a cafe where they stopped for a last drink Agnew, who had taken very little during the evening, and who called for a milk glass on this occasion, suddenly found the room whirling round and round with him and finally pitched forward on the floor and became unconscious. When he came to some time during the next day he was ill and found that he had been robbed and was clothed in the garb of a workman. He was also a prisoner in a cellar so dark that he could not see across it. There were a pitcher of water and a loaf of bread beside him. He drank of the water and slept for hours.

When he awoke again the effects of the drug were gone, and he explored his prison, to discover that it had only one small window, and that looked out on a back yard and was heavily barred. There had been stairs leading up to a door, but they had been removed. No sounds reached him from above, and the noises from the street were muffled.

An hour later a man thrust a ladder down and brought more bread and water. He was armed with a knife and refused to answer any questions. The American coaxed, threatened and tried to bribe, but the man was firm. Three times a day for the next ten days he brought bread and water, but never anything else. Then one evening he left the ladder behind him when he ascended, as if by an oversight, and after waiting for an hour Agnew crept up, to find the door open. He had no trouble in leaving the house, which was without tenants and situated in a slum street. The man hadn't a penny in money, and his suit was old and ragged. When he accepted a gendarme he was ordered to move on. He moved on and told his story again and again and at length was arrested and locked up. In the morning the judge was about to commit Agnew as a vagrant when he asked that the head of the firm be sent for. This was done, and of course the prisoner was soon at liberty. He could not make the police to the street where he had been held prisoner, but a visit to the home of Dubois explained everything. He had abandoned his family eight days previously. In a day or two it was shown that for five years he had maintained three separate establishments, and in two of them he had passed for a single man. Just out of being a man of steady habits, he was a regular rascal. Taste of being a man of probity, a brief examination of his books showed that he had stolen $30,000 from the firm in six years. Had an expert been put on his books at any time his frauds must have been discovered in half a day.

It took the police a couple of weeks to secure a clue, but the embroiler was finally followed to South Africa and up the country to the diamond mines. When arrested he was all bravado, but three days later he committed suicide under the officer's nose, and the case against him was closed.

M. QUAD.

A BASEBALL STORY.

The Pictures of a Pitcher That Were on Exhibition.

Dad Clark, once a pitcher of the New York club, who was perhaps the most unconscious humorist the game has ever known, could be made to believe the tallest story ever told, provided the teller kept a serious face, and this sublime faith of Clark's caused him to be "stung" on many occasions.

One of the most notable cases wherein Dad got "stung" happened one morning when that genial soul and prince of good fellows, Parke Wilson, the New York catcher at that time, came hurriedly into the clubhouse just when the fellows were preparing to don their baseball clothes for morning practice and excitedly exclaimed:

"Say, men, what do you think? As I came to the park this morning I walked by Siegel, Cooper & Co.'s place and saw a big crowd gathered about their largest show window."

"Getting curious myself, I went up to see what the trouble was, and what do you imagine caused the street to become blocked? Why, nothing more than this—they have the entire window filled with canned goods, and on each can is the picture of Dad Clark!" shouted Parke.

"What!" shrieked Dad as he began pulling on his street clothes. "Me picture on cans in Siegel-Cooper's window? Now, you fat heads, see whose de popular guy of dis punk outfit! I'm de little boy who's fillin' up dis park every day, an' I'm goin' ter strike for a 'tousand dollar raise in me salary right away. Me picture on cans in Siegel-Cooper's window! If de folks at home could only see me now!"

All during this spiel Dad was hustling on his duds, and the moment he got the last garment fastened he tore out of the clubhouse and raced for dear life toward Siegel & Cooper's big store.

He arrived there all right, and rushing up to the window, he saw the cans, just as Parke Wilson said they could be found, and on the front of each can was the picture of a great fat red lobster!—Dad luth liald.

Stole His Own Grip.

A man was arrested the other day for stealing his own grip off an express wagon.

"It was a game that he had worked with success on local expressmen for several years," said the man who had been instrumental in bringing about the trickster's downfall. "He moved frequently and always after dark. Invariably, when the trunks had been piled high into the wagon, the schemer appeared with a suit case which he wished hauled, just as a matter of accommodation. The unsuspecting driver obligingly accepted the extra bundle, which somehow was always missing at the other end of the line. Later the owner of the grip appeared and raised no end of a row over its loss. He claimed that it contained some valuable goods, for which he demanded compensation. The damages claimed were excessive, but in all cases the expressman rather than have any trouble compromised for an amount that fully paid the man for any risk incurred in stealing from himself."—New York Post.

Common Colds are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases

Physicians who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases claim that if catching cold could be avoided a long list of dangerous ailments would never be heard of. Every one knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis and all throat and lung trouble are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cures under every condition. For sale at Simmons' drug store.

The Evolution of the "Doll."

A relic of the old days, probably not much more than two centuries ago, before little girls began to call their toy babies "dolls" instead of "puppets" or "poppets," is to be found in "pretty poppet," a term of endearment still sometimes heard. No doubt "popsy wopsy" is simply an improved version of this. "Puppet" is descended, of course, from the French "poupée" and the Latin "pupa," a little girl or doll, from both of which have come other English words. "Poupée" has given us "puppy," so called because the tiny dog was naturally petted as a plaything, and the Latin word survives in the sense of a chrysalis and has a descendant in the "pup" of the eye, the "baby" that any one may see reflected in it.—London Chronicle.

Changing the Topaz.

Pink topazes and white sapphires are imitated to perfection and passed off successfully as the genuine stones. The amounts paid for some of them are considerable, varying according to size and quality. These stones are imitated by the aid of heat and require very careful manipulation. The pink topaz is made by heating a yellow topaz, which is not of great value, to a certain temperature, when it gradually turns to a very pleasing pink or delicate rose color. The Saxon topaz and a very pale sapphire can be made perfectly white, so as to resemble diamonds, but are more often passed off as a white sapphire, which is also of much value. A Brazilian topaz by the same method can be made to imitate a very fine ruby.

Lame Back.

This ailment is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles and may be cured by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm two or three times a day and rubbing the parts vigorously at each application. If this does not afford relief, and on a piece of flannel slightly dampened with Pain Balm, and quick relief is almost sure to follow.

For sale by L. S. Simmons.

A Favorite Remedy for Babies.

Its pleasant taste and prompt cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a favorite with mothers of small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds and prevents any danger of pneumonia or other serious consequences. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears will prevent the attack.

"I fancy he is. To my mind there is nothing that makes a man more presentable and really attractive than a graceful walk. My curiosity is greatly aroused. May I ask a favor of you?"

"Certainly."

"Then I would like to see you walk." And she handed him his hat.—London Mail.

Even from the Mountains

Ballard's Snow Liniment is praised for the good it does. A sure cure for Rheumatism and all pains. Wright W. Loving, Grand Junction, Colo., writes: "I used Ballard's Snow Liniment last winter for Rheumatism and can recommend it to the best Liniment on the market. I thought at the time I was taken down with it that it would be a week before I could get about, but on applying your Liniment several times during the night I was about in 36 hours and well in three days."

Michael Angelo.

Michael Angelo was equally great as painter, sculptor and architect. In order to paint figures properly he devoted twelve years to the study of anatomy alone. His monument to Pope Julius II. was on so grand a scale that the church of St. Peter in Rome was altered with a view to affording a suitable place for its reception. The tomb was afterward modified in plan and placed in another church. His "Last Judgment" required seven years to execute and was finished when the artist was nearly sixty-eight. A few weeks before his death the aged artist was met one day in the street walking through the snow with great difficulty. When asked where he was going, he replied, "To school to try and learn something."

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES. Result of 15 years experience in tire making. No danger from THORNS, CACTUS, PINS, NAILS, TACKS OR GLASS. Serious punctures, like intentional knife cuts, can be vulcanized like any other tire.

Two Hundred Thousand pairs now in actual use. Over Seventy-five Thousand pairs sold last year.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. It is lively and easy riding, very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have only been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than prepared fabric on the tread. That "Holding Back" sensation commonly felt when riding on asphalt or soft roads is overcome by the patent "Basket Weave" tread which prevents all air from being squeezed out between the tire and the road thus overcoming all suction. The regular price of these tires is $8.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C.O.D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send you one nickel plated brass hand pump and two Sampson metal puncture closers on full paid orders (these metal puncture closers to be used in case of intentional knife cuts or heavy gashes. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination.
